My top 3 goals for the coming period:

- 1) _____
- 2) _____
- 3) _____

My values:

---

Exploration of topics that could be brought to completion:

What I regularly spend time on:	Important for vision / goals / values?	Does this bring joy? (yes/no)	Can this be delegated? (yes/no)	Can this be stopped? (yes / no)	Who would be affected?

About me: Simonetta Batteiger – Certified Professional Co-Active Coach, Product Coach, Executive Coach

Simonetta Batteiger is a team builder and leadership expert with more than a decade of experience leading product and business development teams in technical contexts. Simonetta has received her coaching training with the Co-Active Training Institute. She enjoys coaching leaders and loves to help teams find their path to success.

Before starting her business in product and executive coaching, she most recently led the expansion of the world's most popular browser extension (eyeo / AdBlock Plus) by scaling distribution through global browser partnerships. She set up and successfully scaled a remote business Unit consisting of Product and Business Development Teams, and kept a relentless focus on how to build strong teams, even if their members rarely met in person due to their globally distributed setup. The products her teams built are in use by hundreds of millions of users. Prior to her time at eyeo, she led the teams who built and scaled the leading marketplace for domain names (sedo.com).

Simonetta founded Inclusive Leaders, because she believes that building an inclusive team culture is a strategic enabler of high performing teams and the rocket fuel of innovation. She wants to support teams in finding their path to success while enjoying their time together.

Simonetta lives in Cologne and usually spends a portion of the year in New York or Boston. She loves travelling, cooking, art & Argentine Tango and looks at any experience that provided a new insight or learning as a gift.
